New advanced composite solutions business to launch in January 2018

Total Composite Solutions (TCS) Ltd an advanced composite service, solutions and product distribution business has been formed as a result of a partnership between GRP Solutions Ltd and advanced composite experts Andrew Pointon and Michael Stevenson.

The new business will be launched on the 31st January 2018 and will utilise the combined business and distribution expertise from within the two entities gained from over 100 years market experience. The new company will focus on providing its customers and partners with market development, technical and engineering support along with optimised product distribution within the advanced Resin, Adhesives, Fibre and Prepreg markets. GRP Solutions Ltd will continue to focus on its current core business activities.

Andrew Pointon, Managing Director and shareholder of Total Composite Solutions (TCS)Ltd stated, "We are delighted to have now completed the formation of the new company alongside GRP Solutions. We see a strong strategic fit and a fantastic customer focused team at GRP which will help support our goal to provide our Customers and Partners with a full solution approach to their business growth. We will operate within the advanced composite sectors where we see strong organic growth and many exciting new projects. Maximising our principals' manufacturing and product excellence along with the support of our in-house expertise we will service the market and achieve our growth targets".

Brian Harpur Managing Director and Owner of GRP Solutions stated "We see the combination of the two entities as the logical next step towards providing the market with a complete composite solution. It will set a new standard in composite distribution".
